CV SUMMARY

I am a Ramon y Cajal researcher (number 1 in the 2019 call), a tenure-track professor at UPF, and a teaching fellow in Oxford University's Europeum program. I hold a Juris Science Doctor (PhD) and an LLM (Masters in Law) from Cornell Law School, a BA in Law and a BA in Economics and Business Administration from UPF, and a BA in music performance (piano) from the Superior Music Conservatory in Barcelona. I am admitted to practice law in both New York (NY BAR 4775474) and Barcelona (BAR 39954), and I have served as a Law Clerk to the Hon. Edwin H. Stern, presiding judge of the New Jersey Appellate Court.

I have published over 45 journal articles and book chapters, including 10 in the last 10 years, with respected international and national journals and publishing companies as well as some articles for a general audience on newsworthy topics. On SSRN my papers have over 665 downloads and over 58 citations; my Google Scholar h-index is 4. I have presented my work in over 40 international and national conferences with competitive submission processes and in 12 faculty seminars in Spain as well as in top European and American Universities to which I have been invited. I am the coordinator of the Legal Issues Arising from Networks (LiaNS) seminar series, a joint seminar series by European Universities led by UPF. My work has been acknowledged by, among other things, the two research merits and two teaching merits awarded by the Catalan University Agency.

I have been the principal investigator of 7 competitive research projects: 2 European Justice, fundamental rights and Artificial Intelligence (JuLIA), call JUST 2021 JTRA, proposal number 101046631 and JUST/2017/Action Grants - Fundamental Rights in Courts and Regulation (FricoRe), 2 Spanish, iConsumers - Protecting consumers in Digital Platforms, PID2021-127258NA-I00/AEI/10.13039/501100011033 and AlgorithmLaw, Algorithmic Decisions and the Law: Opening the Black Box, MICIN/AEI, UE/PRTR - TED2021-131472A-I00 and 3 projects awarded by Universitat Pompeu Fabra. on planetary wellbeing: "Artificial Intelligence: a challenge and/or a solution for sustainable consumer markets?", "Greening consumer welfare: towards a new perspective on consumer protection" and "The digital revolution and sustainable consumption." I have participated as a researcher in more than 10 research projects, 1 of which awarded by the European Commission, 9 by the Spanish Ministry of Science and the Catalan Government. I also collaborate as a researcher of research projects led by other Spanish Universities – like the Universitat de Barcelona and the Universitat de València.

I have obtained over 11 scholarships and awards, among them my current Ramon y Cajal fellowship (I was number 1 of the call), a Juan de la Cierva postdoctoral fellowship (I was also number 1 of the call), the Caja Madrid full Scholarship for pursuing graduate studies in the United States (120.000 euros in 2 years) and an Erasmus plus International (2019) for faculty exchange awarded by the European Commission to develop academic activities at the Interdisciplinary Center Herzliya (Israel).

I have significant international experience, both as a graduate student (obtaining my LLM and J.S.D. at Cornell Law School) and as a researcher and visiting professor. I have been a visiting professor at the Interdisciplinary Center at the University of Herzliya (Israel), the Institut für Wirtschaftsrecht of the University of Kassel (Germany), at the Puerto Rico Law School (Puerto Rico, US) and the University of Montenegro (Montenegro), among others. I have visited a broad range of universities and research centers, including Brooklyn Law School (New York, United States), the Law and Economics Institute at the University of Hamburg (Germany) and the Center for South African Studies of the University of Western Cape (Cape Town, South Africa). I have participated in over 21 international and national conferences, Faculty seminars and Workshops in European Universities (Germany, Italy, Switzerland, United Kingdom, Poland).

As contributions to the transfer of the research results, I have organized 8 international conferences at UPF to date.
